

Dertouzos, M. and J. Moses. The Computer Age. Cambridge: MIT Press, 1980.
 Field, Debbie. "Rosie the Riveter," Still Ain't Satisfied: Canadian Feminism Today. Toronto: Women's Press, 1982.
 Jenkins, C. and B. Sherman. The Collapse of Work. London: Eyre Methuen, 1979.
 Marschall, D. and J. Gregory. Office Automation. Cleveland: Working Women Education Fund, 1983.
 Nora, S. and A. Minc. The Computerization of Society. Cambridge: MIT Press, 1980.
 "Garment Workers." Saskatoon Star-Phoenix 26 April 1983.
 Task Force on Labour Market Developments. Labour Market Development in the 1980's. Ottawa: Employment and Immigration Canada, 1981.
 Task Force on Microelectronics and Work. In the Chips. Ottawa: Labour Canada, 1982.

CAROL THORNTON

Closed Windows

Aboard the Saemun Express, car two first class, but when the toilet door opens the smell breaks through even this conditioned air.
 Halfway between Chamiwon and Pyorogok I spot you, sister.
 Partway up the hill, you sit in your field leaning on one elbow hip against the soft brown earth
 as you dig with a small hand tool.
 How is it that the earthy humus smell penetrates closed windows?
 So near we could converse except the only word I've learned is "mul"
 and you're probably more thirsty than I am.
 So why does my heart ache to trade places with you?

Carol Thornton lives in Saskatchewan, and is new to poetry writing. One of her poems has recently been published by Grain Magazine. Her short stories have been aired on cbc Radio.

conference

gender/race/class equity: In the classroom, in the curriculum
May 13-14, 1993

Glendon College
 York University
 2275 Bayview Ave
 Toronto, ON M4N 3M6

Purpose: A two day conference for teachers and planners in primary and secondary schools, community colleges and universities, who are trying to implement equality in the classroom and the curriculum. The conference offers practical suggestions for lesson plans, new curriculum development and recommendations to the Ministry to support initiatives promoting equity in the classroom. It explores anti-sexist, anti-racist pedagogies and examines issues of class and critiques of streaming. It brings together specialists working on a variety of equality issues including Native, Lesbian/Gay, Women and Labour Studies at all levels of the education system.

Contact:
 Conference Coordinator
 Room 217, Atkinson College, York University
 4700 Keele Street
 North York, ON M3J 1P3

CALL FOR PAPERS

Citizenship, Community, Identity: Feminists (Re)Present
 the Political

A Conference of Graduate Students at York University
 October 1 - 3, 1993

The Women's Caucus of the Graduate Political Science Student's Association at York University invites proposals for papers to be presented at our Fall 1993 Conference. Proposal submissions should be broadly reflective of the conference theme and should not exceed presentation time of 25 minutes. Please submit proposals to Catherine Kellogg, Department of Political Science, 6th Floor Ross South, York University, 4700 Keele Street, North York, Ontario M3J 1P3, Canada.